Theme: Bringing Hope in Challenging Times

Longreach, Queensland, Australia

Sunday 23 to Friday 28 August 2020

The ecumenical conference will commence on Sunday 23 August 2020 with reception and dinner and conclude at lunch time on Friday 28 August, to enable participants to catch the afternoon flight out of Longreach.

There will be an option for people to stay on in accommodation until Saturday 29th August if they need to.

The theme "Bringing Hope in Challenging Times" will be an opportunity to share stories of lament and stories of hope in difficult times.

Rural communities throughout Oceania - Australia, New Zealand, and the Islands of the South Pacific and Melanesia - are all experiencing challenging times. We have been facing challenges for some decades now and the 21st Century has only made this more daunting. Rural churches are embedded within rural communities and can be their heart and soul, however we often feel unsupported by urban based denominational churches and can be negatively impacted by decisions made at the national or regional level.

We therefore take up the task ourselves to network with other rural churches and work together to inspire and encourage. That is what IRCA-Oceania 23-28 August 2020 is all about.

The conference will include:

- Inputs from invited speakers
 - Rev Linley Liersch, Uniting Church in Australia minister, on growing people and churches in faith and hope
 - Rt Rev Matt Brain, Anglican Diocese of Bendigo, on trialling ways to sustain ordained ministry in rural locations
 - Captain Elizabeth Johnson, Salvation Army, bringing statistical insight into rural and remote ministries
 - Rev Canon Greg Harris, Bush Church Aid, on financing ministry to rural and remote places
 - A panel from a wide range of denominations sharing a workshop on approaches to the current difficulties in rural and remote ministry
